

AAS COURSES • SPRING 2023

AAS 100: Intro to Asian American Studies

Sang Lee • MW 10:00 – 10:50 am • CRN 30106 • M/W Lecture / Friday Discussion Sections

Interdisciplinary introduction to the basic concepts and approaches in Asian American Studies. Surveys the various dimensions of Asian American experiences including history, social organization, literature, arts, and politics.

This course satisfies the US Minority Cultures General Education requirement.

AAS 200: U.S. Race and Empire

Emi Sawada • TR 2:00 – 3:20 pm • CRN 64396

Invites students to examine histories and narratives of U.S. race and empire, drawing upon multiple theoretical and methodological works in Asian American studies and related fields.

This course satisfies the US Minority Cultures General Education requirement.

AAS 215: U.S. Citizenship Comparatively

Soo Ah Kwon • W 2:00 – 4:50 pm • CRN 52317

Examines the racial, gendered, and sexualized aspects of US citizenship historically and comparatively.

Interdisciplinary course taught from a humanities perspective. Readings draw from critical legal studies, history, literature, literary criticism, and ethnography.

This course satisfies the US Minority Cultures General Education requirement.

AAS 539: Youth, Culture, and Society

Soo Ah Kwon • MW 12:00 – 1:20 pm • CRN 65078

Examines youth as a historically and culturally specific social formation; examines discursive and material positioning of youth within broader intersecting racial, cultural, socio-economic, gender and political contexts to situate youth and youth cultural practices within global and local processes. Specific topics include youth cultures, juvenile justice, education, labor, consumerism, politics, sexuality and activism, as well as methodological considerations of conducting research on youth.

This course is restricted to graduate-level students.